Information Wanted.

As to the relatives of Nicholas C. Booth, who died at John Randall's ranch, ten miles north of Carlisle, Grant county New Mexico, on the 16th day of September. Deceased was attacked with cholera morbus while stopping at the ranch and lived but a few hours. Among his effeets were found letters showing that he had been living in New Mexico for some time. Sufficient money for funeral expenses was found upon his person, and he left a horse, saddle and bridle, which are now in Mr. Randall's possession, and will be delivered to any properly authorized parties. A Thin Document.

They are sendining out a lot of circulars from Las Cruces for the purpose of hurting Hon. Anthony Joseph with the cattlemen. They copy a part of a speech made by Mr. Joseph in Las Vegas on the 30th of last month, from which we take the following:

legislature of last winter in no un. fled through the door and gained certain terms, and demonstrated the street three steps at a time. clearly that under no circumstances could its legality be maintained. He will do his utmost, if elected, to have the whole proceedings annalled by congress, which will effect were no names attaced to the circular, say such action as Mr. Joseph proposes, if successful, will annul the wholesome stock laws passed las winter, and want the cattlemen to vote against him. That is the thincet thing we ever saw. New stock laws can be passed that will suit better than the present ones. What the people want is the capitol and penitentiary steals annuled, and thereby save an enormous tax. Mr. Joseph proposes to do all he can in having this done, if elected. Vote for him, cattlemen, and save hundreds of dollars in tax for years to

How The Bedouing Conquer Thirst.

In an article on "The Rescue of Chinese Gorden," in the Century, General R. E. Colston, late of the Egyptain General Staff, says: "In the Waterless Land,' water is the paramount question. If it be asked how a large body of Bedouins, like the ten thousand who nearly destroyed the British squares at Tamai manage to subsist, the reason is plain. In the first place, they do not need the enormous trains required for a European army. They are the most abstemious of men. Each man carries a skin of water and a small bag of grain, procured by purchase or barter from caravans. Their camels and goats move with them, supplying them with milk and meat, and subsisting upon the scanty herbage and the foliage of the thorny mimosa, growing in secluded wadies. These people could live upon the increse of their flocks alone which they exchange readily for other commodities; but being the exclusive carriers and guides for all the travel | night, and I expect to lick three and commerce that cross their deserts, they realize yearly large amounts of money. As to water, they know every nook and hollow in the mountains away from the trails where a few barrels of water colcan scatter, every man for himself, he is a member of. to fill their water-skins. As to washing, they never indulge in such wasteful nonsense. When Bedouins came to my camp, water was always offered them. Their answer would frequently be: 'No, thanks; I drank yesterday." They know too well the importance of keeping up the habit of abstemiousness. No wonder they can subsist where invaders would quickly perish."

The Size of His Soul.

A little woman leading a child walked into the Elks saloon this morning and asked for a small contribution to help her over the road as far as Albuquerque. A la-da-da tourist from the east (Boston probably) was at the counter sucking at a lemonade through a straw. Turnthat you men will not help a poor woman in need?" and reaching down in his pocket he pulled out a dime and laid it in her palm. "Say," said one of the men in rough clothes "do you call that helping a poor woman? Why the only thing she could buy with them ten cents is your dirty soul. Why you son-ofa-gun!"-but before he could get "Mr. Joseph denounced the illegal hold of him, the stingy brute had "Now then, madam, finish your story and we'll see waat can be done for you." She did finish her story and when she left the saloon she ually kill the penitentiary and capi-tol bills by a short method." had money enough to buy a ticket to Albuquerque and pay a week's to Albuquerque and pay a week's They, we say "they," for there board. "Clean 'em Out."

He was a man about 25 years old. He had a prominent nose, red neck fighting jaw and sheet lightning in his eyes. He had been hunting for a certain citizen for half a day without success, and when asked if it was very particular business, he replied:

"You'd better bet it is! He wants to engage me to start a boum for him."

"Boom?" "Exactly. He wants a county nomination and I'm going to work

"How do you boom a would-be candidate?" was asked.

"Well, it's easy enough. There's three brothers of us. He divides $50 among us as a starter. That makes us solid for Smith. We begin to hurrah for him. Somebody hurrahs for Brown. We pulverize them.

We talk Swith a starter that makes as a starter. That makes the statement No. 833, for the east half northeast quarter, and east half southeast quarter, section 25, town 17 south, range 20 east. Witnesses: Francisca Chaves y Armito, Patrocino Cordoba, Destinction Castillo and Pablo Garulla, of Seven Rivers, N. M. We talk Smith in the saloons, on the street, out in the country and a'l over. Smith's the chap-stands in with the boys-no aristocrat-good fello-honest man-sure to get thar' got to see him through."

"But suppose another faction wants Collins?"

"Clean 'em out! Lick a Collins man when he begins to whoop for Smith. Keep treating and hurrahing and knocking down till the of the county convention, then watch your delegates. Bribe some, lick some-and get others too drunk to sell you out. Jut as easy as grease when you know how. Hang it, Smith out to be on hand. A monopoly is a prosperous combination of which we are not one. This makes it wicked, avaricious and dangerous. when we get into it. it ceases to be a monopoly and becomes a union, a brotherhood, a firm, an association or a corporation. This change also involves a great moral change, and it becomes a mighty engine of progress, a developer of our country's resources, a factor in the national prosperity and all that sort of thing.—[Hawk-
